WRESTLING BADLY ROBERT EDGREN

W YORK just now is full of wrestlers. Hackenschmidt, the great "Russian Lion," stopping the Astor, riding in carriages, king several languages with Russian ease, showing in his full dress the greatest expanse of snow-white shirt osom in America, has given the doubtful game a certain tone that it lacked few days ago.

There is another thing about Hack. will make any match he takes in (if he does wrestle) quite an vent for people who like any kind of clean sport. That is the fact that the Russian has never faked. He never gave the other fellow a fall to affect the betting, or to bring on another match, or for any other reason. In competition his broad shoulders never touched the mat. He is always out to win, and he always wins. This makes his record absolutely unique in the game that is so much

"No." was Hack.'s reply." "Plening knows what I can do to him. I met him twice in Europe. The first time I threw him in a minute and a half, and he couldn't get out of bed for two weeks afterward. I met him in a later tournament, and he came to me beforehand and said: Thease don't hurr me this time, Mr. Hackensohmidt, I don't want to be killed.' So I went at later tournament, and he lasted about four minutes. I don't want to make a bad impression on the Americans, and if I wrestled a man who had no chance it would look like what you call a fake."

An offer to back a wrestler against Hackensohmidt with a $1,000 side bet looks good on paper, but as a matter of fact any business man would back a newsboy against him under the same conditions. The loser's end of the gate would cover the side the two or three times over.

To, the Russian Lion isn't mething the patch of the stream was thus putting the lasted and an analysis and conditions. The loser's end of the gate would so the Russian Lion isn't method with Jankins, and from was leaked of the Russian Lion isn't method with Jankins, and from was leaked a laugh-marked with Jankins, and from was leaked to see them make a laugh-will leaked out the game. EDGRENS BOTHNER AND HIGASHI, TO-NIGHT'S OPPONENTS, AND TWO JIU-JITSU TRICKS HERFORD DUCKS LEWIS MATCH

Al Herford, manager of Joe Gans, the lightweight champion, at the ninth hour has knocked out all chance of a ght between Gans and Willie Lewis, he local fighter. Herford doesn't flatly refuse to fight Lewis, but he does almost the same thing in imposing impossible conditions for Lewis to agree to. Here are Herford's conditions: "Will only make match with Willie Lewis under these conditions: If the Lewis people wager $1,000, even, I'll bet them as much as they like after that at the prevailing odds. If they won't bet the $1,000 the best weight Gans will do is 135 at three o'clock on day of contest. That is the best I will do, and if this is not satisfactory we will call all matters off.

do, and if this is not satisfactory we will call all matters off.

"Washington, April 5."
Lewis wants to make the match and will wager the $1,000 on the side, the money to be bet at the odds prevailing at the ringside. Sporting men in this city have accepted Lewis's version of the matter and think that it is unfair of Herford to demand that the $1,000 be bet, evens, when his champion will be at least a 3 to 1 favorite over the New Yorker at the ringside. Herford had deposited $1,000 in this city and agreed that Gans would take on Lewis at 133 pounds ringside. This forfeit was covered by Lewis's manager and a fight looked sure. Now, however, everything is off.

Ever since the jui-jitsu science became a fad with the American public it has been a much mooted question whether this art could endure against the attack of an expert catch-as-catch can or Graeco-Roman wrestler. Bother has been a persistent challenger of Higashi ever since the latter made a show of the crack athletes of the Police Department by literally standing the stars of New York's finest on their heads.

Higashi claims his only reason for not clinching the match sooner was the fear of doing the American a permanent bodily injury. Bothner's taunts of cowardice stirred up the little Japanese, and the match was made.
